

dlk – de loeiende koe

We write 1995, the creation of a working group on the initiative of the Department of Architecture & Urban Planning that should serve as a dialogue between pupils and teachers within architectural education. A working group that will develop over time into a society of Architecture: 'de loeiende koe' sees its light. Her status undefined. Her possibilities endless. Serving architectural education, she acts where it falls short, if not she tries to fill in the gaps. She does this by organising lectures, hosting a radio station, arranging cultural and social events to name a few. A mixture of academic sérieux and individual fascinations, a work of love, but also of conviction, that against the background of an increasingly globalized practice of architectural production, the intellectual openness that de loeiende koe offers, is an opportunity to be cherished.

Here's an idea. The – faith – in an idea, in something that transcends the world and escapes reality. An idea that was once Architecture.

Hi!

After the introductions are given, we will welcome you at the Plateau. A place that's going to be your homes the following semester. But first, together with Nathan, we will check your curricula online. After the paperwork is settled, you can join us physically at the Plateau @11AM for a tour through the building. More importantly, we will show you where to get your coffees.

See you then!
