The Green Hub: where the action takes place
The Green Hub is THE place to be for everyone who works on making Ghent University sustainable: a growing Green Community of students, employees, scientists, activists and policy makers.

Green Hub,
Ufo building, Sint-Pietersnieuwstraat 33
9000 Gent

The entrance of the Green Hub is located at street level, close to the Vooruit, next to the stairs leading up to the UFO building.
D’URGENT is a student platform for sustainable bottom-up projects; a place to share knowledge, undertake concrete action and activate students around the three pillars of sustainability: ecology, economy and society.

D’URGENT works on two levels: policy and awareness. We make a change on the policy level through projects such as the auto-niet-mijn-maat to push Ghent University to get rid of the vending machines or more recent projects like Vegan at resto that tries to make the student restaurants more vegan-friendly. We raise awareness through different events such as workshops on homemade cosmetics and vegetarian cooking, debates, movie nights, readings, and so much more.

Also don’t forget you can join Stujardin, the urban student gardening project on campus!

De Fietsambassade Gent
You can rent a bike from the city’s bike rental service from 1 up to 14 months at prices starting as low as € 35.00 for 3 months. The bikes are not only cheap but also always in good condition. No wonder you see them everywhere in Ghent!

You can reserve your bike through defietsambassade.wowconnect.be. To get your trusty two-wheeler you need your student card or certificate of enrolment (to be found on Oasis), your passport or identity card, € 80.00 deposit and the rental fee. You can pay in cash or with a Belgian debit card. Be sure to bring your bike back clean and in good shape to retrieve your deposit!

TIP: you can use the bike wash station at the rental shop for free.

Bike Point Kattenberg - Kattenberg 2
Open: Monday and Tuesday 8:30 - 12:15 & 13:00 - 16:15; Wednesday 08:30 - 12:15, Thursday 8:30 - 12:15 & 13:00 - 18:00; Friday closed

When you take a look around, you'll immediately notice Ghent is loaded with bicycles.

They are definitely the easiest and fastest means of transportation within the city borders and the top choice for almost every student. Some obstacles will require skilled biking, such as slippery cobblestones or crossing tram tracks, but no need to worry: you'll pick up city biking soon enough, and in no time you'll be riding your bike as any Ghentian.

When you're not into biking or the weather is appalling, the well-organized public transport offers you a comfortable alternative. You'll find some tips and tricks on the next few pages.

Almost any street in Ghent is open for bikers! But the Mageleinstraat, Kalandestraat until Koestraat, Kalandeberg, Donkersteeg and shopping street Langemunt in the city center are exceptions. Here, pedestrians are kings from 11:00 until 18:00. From June till the end of September, also the beloved Graslei is forbidden territory for your bike.

To avoid a € 58.00 fine, get off your bike and take it by the hand or choose a parallel road.

GETTING YOUR BIKE REPAIRED

Bike repairs at Ghent University
Students and university staff can make use of the bike repair points of Ghent University. Every spot has the tools you need to repair small issues with your bike.

FIXIT repair points on campus
1/ Campus Sterre, between Building S4 and S5
2/ Campus Couperus, bike shed across from building B
3/ Tech Lane Ghent Science Park Campus A, beside the road near the roundabout
4/ Home Groningen, Stalhof 4, at the public bike shed

Bicycle pumps
Almost any campus has a bike pump. You can find their locations at www.ugent.be/fietsen

De Fietsambassade Gent
Is your bike a real wreck or are you not really a handy(wo)man? Fietsambassade is there to help you out! You can get your bicycle quite cheaply repaired in their shop, and you can get a replacement bike for € 5,00 for the entire repair period. (You'll notice you can’t live without your ‘steel steed' anymore once you’ve grown used to it!)

You can bring your rental bike of de Fietsambasade for bike repair to all four of their mentioned rental points. Be aware that you have to be present at least 15' before the closing hour (see information on bike rental).

Bike Points
Bike Point Kattenberg - Kattenberg 2

TRAMS & BUSES

In Ghent, buses and trams are omnipresent and can take you almost anywhere in the city. Wherever you are, you’re never too far away from a bus or a tram stop.

Public transportation in Belgium is managed on the regional level by different companies: De Lijn in Flanders, MIVB/STIB in Brussels and TEC in Wallonia.

De Lijn tickets
All tickets of De Lijn are valid within the entire region of Flanders.

Day Pass
This allows you to travel through Flanders on any tram or bus for the entire day. It will costs you € 7,50 in pre-sale, through SMS (+ service cost) or the app. Three-day passes are also available.

Buzzy Pazz or Omnipas
If you plan on taking buses and trams frequently for several weeks or months, you could profit from buying a Buzzy Pazz or an Omnipas, valid on any bus or tram of De Lijn.

De Lijn tickets
All tickets of De Lijn are valid within the entire region of Flanders.

Single Journey
In the city centre, a ticket is valid for 1 hour, including any bus/tram changes without restriction. You cannot get a ticket from the bus driver anymore! In the vending machines at the bus platform, in de Lijn Shops and on most buses (contactless), you can get a ticket for € 2,50. You validate the ticket in one of the machines on board at the beginning of your trip. You can also buy a ticket with your phone for € 2,65 (including € 0,15 for your provider) by texting ‘DL’ to 4884. By far the cheapest option is to buy an M-ticket using the Ticket Touch app for € 1,80.

Lijnkaart / M-card
If you plan on using buses or trams sporadically, you are better off buying a ‘Lijnkaart’, a ticket for 10 rides (€ 16,00). Just like with a single ticket, you validate it on board at the beginning of your trip. If you buy the digital version through the app of De Lijn, it is called an ‘M-Card’ and you pay € 15,00.
Night buses
The night buses cover eight of the most common tram and bus routes until 1:00. Tickets and prices are the same as during the day. Check the De Lijn website on www.delijn.be/en.

De Lijn shops
To buy one of the tickets mentioned before or to buy a Buzzy Pazz or Omnipas:

1) Korenmarkt, Cataloniëstraat 4
Open: Weekdays 9:00 – 18:00 and Saturday 10:00 – 12:15 and 12:30 – 17:00

2) Gent Sint-Pieters railway station
Open: Weekdays 7:00 – 19:00 / Saturday 10:00 – 12:15 and 12:30 – 17:00

3) Woodrow Wilsonplein (Gent Zuid)
Open: Weekdays 10:00 – 12:15 and 12:30 – 17:00

Route planner De Lijn
The planner is available in English at www.delijn.be/en/routeplanner.

Enter the address of departure and arrival, the time and date, and you’ll find connections to all major cities in Belgium.

NMBs tickets
The national railway company in Belgium is called ‘NMBS’ in Flanders and ‘SNCB’ in Wallonia. You can purchase a single ticket online or at the ticket dispensers and ticket counters in the station.

A ‘Youth Multi’ or ‘Standard Multi’ is a multiple trip ticket and can be purchased at the ticket dispensers or at the ticket counters in the railway station:

Youth Multi
If you are younger than 26, and planning to travel frequently by train, the best option is to buy a Youth Multi (10 single rides between any two Belgian stations valid for one year). The entire card will cost you € 53,00 so one single journey will only cost € 5,30. It’s also possible to use the Youth Multi with several people at the same time. The ticket is printed without your name, so if you don’t use up all the rides, you can resell them easily at the end of your exchange.

Standard Multi
This ticket fits people of 26 or older. It works exactly like a Youth Multi, but it’s a bit more expensive: € 83,00 for 10 rides or € 8,30 per single ride.

Weekend ticket
Traveling back and forth somewhere between Friday 19:00 and Sunday night? The Weekend ticket awards you a near 50% discount, so it’s often your best choice.

Good to know
Many other ticket formulae may suit your needs like the Youth Ticket, Youth Holidays, Locol Multi, … Check the website or ask at any railway station.

The ticket dispensers only take bank cards or coins. Be sure to buy a ticket in advance because buying one on the train will cost you an additional charge of minimal € 7,00. If you didn’t get a ticket, let the ticket inspector know before you get on the train; otherwise you will get fined.

Route planner NMBS
There is also a route planner for trains, available in English at www.belgianrail.be/en.

Enter the address of departure and arrival, the time and date, and you’ll get the easiest travel route by train and by bus, tram or metro if needed. The NMBS app comes in handy too for buying tickets and finding out train hours and connections.

INTERNATIONAL TRAVEL

Blablacar
Share a ride to neighbouring countries at a lower price than by bus or train. At blablacar.be you can check where and when someone is traveling, how many spots are left in the car and how much it will cost you. You can also post the ride you are looking for. Book your seat online and travel from city A to city B, even at the last minute.

Taxistop
This Belgian initiative offers a wide range of carpool and car sharing services, always looking for new ways to benefit your wallet, the environment and society. Worth a look! taxistop.be/en

Long-distance buses
Flixbus, Eurolines, Icelines, Megabus and Ouibus are some of the companies offering a broad range of destinations in Belgium, France, The Netherlands, Germany, Spain, Italy and many other countries. Check out the promotions on their websites, and if you’re lucky, you can get away for less than € 10,00. Flixbus even offers the possibility to compensate for your CO₂ emissions with a small extra fee.

International trains
As Ghent is in the heart of Europe, it is a superb hub for a train ride to many great cities. With www.trainline.eu you have a great travel mate to help you pick your best option. Make sure to check out seat61.com, a superb site to start traveling through Europe by train.

Thalys
High-speed trains from Brussels to Paris, Amstterdam, Köln, Schiphol, Den Haag, Rotterdam, etc.
www.thalys.com

Eurostar
These trains will take you to London, Lille and a couple of other destinations in no time. www.eurostar.com
By aeroplane
Belgium has two international airports: Brussels Airport in Zaventem and Charleroi Airport (Brussels South).

Brussels Airport
To get from Ghent to Brussels Airport or the other way around, the train is the best option. You can use a Youth Ticket, Youth Multi or Standard Multi, but you will also need an additional ‘Supplement Brussels Airport’ for € 5.50. Be sure to keep both your train ticket and Supplement Brussels Airport with you after leaving the train; if not, you won’t be able to enter the airport.

Charleroi Airport
Taking the Flibco bus is your best option to go to Charleroi Airport from Ghent. You can purchase tickets online, and the bus will pick you up at the back of the Gent Sint-Pieters train station and drop you off in front of the departure halls at the airport. Be sure to foresee enough time as buses can get stuck in traffic.

www.flibco.be/en
Ghent is a true paradise for foodies and a real hotspot for healthy, organic and tasty restaurants.

To top it off, Ghent is the ‘European capital’ of vegetarian food. It is the birthplace of Thursday Veggie Day, promoting a weekly meatless day as part of a sustainable lifestyle. As a result, Ghent is a pure veggie paradise waiting to be discovered!

Take the time to explore the following student-friendly addresses offering great food at reasonable prices. Be adventurous and have fun discovering these hidden gems in Ghent!

Food, health & sustainability

Making some changes to what you eat is a fun, easy and very effective way to contribute to a more sustainable way of living your student life. Not only what you eat, but also where it’s from and what it’s wrapped in can make a difference!

We’ve lined up five simple tips and tricks to send you on your way.

Tap water

It is not customary in Belgium to automatically get a free glass of tap water with your meal. However, in many restaurants, bars and cafes, you can ask for one. Just give it a try!

EAT VEGAN OR VEGETARIAN

At the university

Student restaurants and cafeterias

The university has eleven cafeterias where you can get sandwiches, soup and snacks and seven restaurants spread all over the city, open every weekday. The prices at these restaurants are the lowest in town (under €5.00 per meal). What’s not to like about that? The menu changes every day, and there is always a vegetarian option. On Veggie Thursdays, there are even three vegetarian options!

The cafeterias serve cheap and tasty sandwiches filled with vegetables and your choice of spread. Try the ecological sandwich (‘ecologisch broodje’) with a weekly changing vegetarian spread. If you want to go vegan, have a look at this page to know when our spreads are plant-based: https://tinyurl.com/ybfzukpc

De Brug

The student restaurant ‘De Brug’ is by far the most frequented restaurant, with even more meal options and a salad bar. It is also the place to be if you prefer a later meal as it is also open from 17:30 until 21:00 on weekdays in addition to the regular lunch service.

De Brug, Sint-Pietersnieuwstraat 45

On weekdays: 11:15 - 14:00 and 17:30 - 21:00

Be sure to bring your student card. Otherwise, you’ll pay the standard price of the meal, which is almost three times higher than the student price. You can order an extra sandwich for someone else, but NOT a second warm meal. Be warned that you can only pay electronically. With maestro, VISA, Mastercard or our own payment system e-purse, which turns your student card into a payment card. https://epurse.ugent.be

The locations, opening hours, and menus of the student restaurants and cafeterias can be found on www.ugent.be/en/facilities/restaurants
In the city

All addresses mentioned in this chapter either have a completely vegan or vegetarian menu, many vegan or vegetarian options in combination with locally grown/fairtrade products or are involved in a social project of some kind.

There’s a site for that: bevegan.be
Next to the handy app Happy Cow, there is a website, bundling all interesting plant-based addresses in Ghent and Belgium. Check it out: bevegan.be/nl/vegan- gent-ontdekken- hotspotguide
At home

Preparing a vegetarian or vegan dish doesn’t only broaden your cooking skills and impresses your fellow students, it also drastically lowers your carbon footprint per meal and reduces animal suffering. You’ll find many creative and delicious ways online to replace the meat, fish and/or dairy on your plate with something plant-based.

In almost any supermarket in Ghent you’ll find different kinds of meat and dairy substitutes such as quorn, seitan, tofu, soy/almond/rice milk and many others.

If you don’t feel like cooking nor going out, but still want a delicious meal, you can get it delivered to your door by bike. Most sustainable and plant-based restaurants are in business for take-away. By themselves or with a commercial bike courier.

What’s typically Belgian and when do I eat it?

Reusable water bottles

All tap water is perfectly drinkable in Belgium, except for the rare cases when this pictogram is shown. The quality check of our tap water is extensive, making tap water as healthy and safe as bottled water. We are currently making tap water more available to you by installing water coolers in public places at our institution. Make good use of them!

Start your life at Ghent University by acquiring a reusable water bottle. It pays off very quickly as you won’t need to pay 10 cents per plastic cup in the student restaurants and cafeterias.

Another option is to buy a Dopper water bottle at the (web)shop of the university. The stylish bottle is recyclable – send it back for free to the company, and they’ll recycle it – it’s BPA-free, and the company invests in social water projects.

Drinking water from the tap at home also has many advantages! It will save you a lot of money since it’s about 100 times cheaper to drink tap water instead of bottled water. Also, no need to drag kilos of water up the stairs of your place.

In the city

There are so many ways to reduce the waste you produce, and you can start by reducing the waste your food is wrapped in. Use reusable shopping bags, reusable fruit and vegetable bags, buy the products you need in larger amounts, with recyclable packaging... The list goes on. Ghent also offers two packaging-free stores where you can bring your own boxes and bags to take your food home!

OHNE [a]
Bring your own jars, bottles, boxes or bags and fill them up with products in the shop. Apart from fruits and vegetables, OHNE sells dairy products, meats, cornflakes, pasta, household materials and much more! Always with a focus on local and organic products. Don’t worry if you don’t have any jars or bottles at home, you can buy them in the shop.

OHNE.be/gent - Steendam 68 & Koningin Elisabethlaan 22
Open: Monday to Thursday 10:00 - 19:00 / Friday and Saturday 10:00 – 18:00

MOOR&MOOR [b]
Although you won’t find all that many packaging-free products here – mostly pasta, grains and coffee – everything is local, vegetarian/vegan and organic. You can also taste their delicious coffee and sandwiches at the shop.

MOOR&MOOR - Jakobijnenstraat 7
Open: Monday – Sunday: 9:00-18:00

BE O GENT
Fruits and vegetables straight from the growers. Can you taste the difference? Big barrels of pasta, rice, nuts and even liquids are also available to buy in bulk. Fill up your own pots and bags with the exact amount you need, reducing food and packaging waste!

BE O GENT - Heilige Geeststraat 6
Open: Tuesday to Saturday 10:00 – 18:30 / Sunday 10:00 – 16:00
You know that feeling when your plate isn’t empty yet, but your stomach is way too full to eat another bite? And you’re left with the choice between feeling sick or throwing away that lovely food? The city of Ghent got your back!

Typically Belgian

De Frietketel
You might have noticed, but Belgians are very fond and proud of our national dish: French fries. Exactly, French fries are actually Belgian! De Frietketel is one of the most famous ‘frituur’ of Ghent. Half of their snacks are vegetarian and homemade. The fries are baked in vegetable oil and come in large portions. You can even get vegan ice cream from Heppie Cow as dessert!

The choices you make as a consumer make a difference, so let them be the difference.

In this chapter, you'll find all sorts of ways to contribute to an environmentally conscious way of consuming, all the while contributing to your wallet and well-being.

At the university

Gift shelves
At the student house 'De Therminal', as well as at the student residences, you'll find our gift shelves or as we call them, give-away-shelves. Do you have stuff you don't need anymore but which could still be useful for others? Put it on the shelf! Your things will find their way to a new owner, and you get extra points for good karma. Do you see something on the gift shelf that you can use? Give it a new home!

In the city

Peerby.com
A website that helps you borrow items from your neighbours. It has a wide range of shareable items, such as bike repair kits, kitchen supplies (blenders, baking moulds, etc.), ladders, hammers, suitcases, tents, travel plug, books, etc. Create a free account, fill in your address in Ghent, go to "my request" and post the item you want to borrow. Peerby then shares the request with people in your neighbourhood. If someone can help you out, they will contact you through the website. No need to buy unnecessary things that you’ll only use once or twice and can’t take back home with you. You’re not only saving money, but you’re also helping others!

Closet sales
You’ll find many closet sales organized throughout the year in our lovely city. Look for events on Facebook or Google search with the keywords: closet sales, ruilmarkt, rommelmarkt, braderie, vlomarkt and Gent/Ghent.

Kringloop thrift shops
You most likely won’t be able to take all your belongings back home after your stay. If you can’t sell it and don’t have the time to give everything away, just drop it all off at one of the many Kringloop shops in Ghent (see p. 30). Bikes and electronics can be damaged or broken, Kringwinkel Ateljee will try to fix them so they can be sold again. Can’t carry it to the shop by yourself? Just give them a call at +32 9 224 07 15 or contact them at info@uwkringwinkel.be and they’ll come to pick it up for free!

At home

One man’s trash is another man’s treasure. You put an announcement in the Facebook groups ‘GIFT | Gent’, ‘Gratis geven Gent’ or ‘De geef van Gent’. These groups were created purely for giveaways or to find what you need for free.

Disclaimer: Facebook groups can get deleted, but usually they’ll pop back up after a while, so don’t worry if you can’t find them at first!

Got some more budget to spend?

You’ll find even more food and shopping addresses on green guidetghent.com. Yes, you read that correctly. It’s just such a great name.

GIRLS ONLY
Did you know? It’s been said women use approximately over 11,000 tampons and pads in a lifetime. That’s a lot of waste, but luckily there are some more sustainable ways to get through your period. We’ve listed some reusable alternatives for you to choose from, together with the stores where you can get them.

Menstrual cup
Plug it in, use it like a tampon... but don’t throw it away! If you take good care of it, you can use the same cup for years and years. About the specific care, there are plenty of online buying guides.

Where to buy?
OHNE (see p. 21), Tante Rosa (www.tanterosa.be), Supergoods eco + fashion (see p. 32), Ayuno (see p. 23), Bioplanet and many other stores and webshops.

Washable menstrual pads
They’re mostly brightly coloured pads you can wash instead of throwing it away after one use. Be sure to read the instructions on how to wash them properly, to prevent the stains from staying.

Where to buy? Online. These are a couple of brands you can check out: PantyProp, Lunapanties, Thinx, Anigon, Vv Skivvys, Dear Kate, Madibad, Period Pantees, Knix Wear, Cheeky Wipes Period Panties.

Period panties
Underwear with incorporated pads, so you don’t need any pads or tampons at all. Depending on the brand and your flow, you can wear one pair of panties per day and be safe from leaking.

Belgians are proud recycling champions. Even better is to avoid waste. Join the club.

Every country has its own ways of recycling, and the differences can be somewhat confusing. In this chapter, we’ll tell you all the do’s and don’ts of waste and recycling in Ghent. You will be the king/queen of garbage! We have also added some fun and easy ideas to reuse and upcycle the stuff you already have.

In Ghent, the sturdy men and women of IVAGO take care of waste. There are five main categories of waste they collect, each in a different way and at a different time in Ghent, depending on where you live.

To know on which day those handsome men and women pick up the garbage in your street, fill in your address on the following website and a personalized calendar will pop-up: ivago.be/nl/particulier/afval/ophaling

To avoid any problems, place your garbage on the street after 19:00 on the day before they pick it up, but before 7:00. However, if you live in the students’ neighbourhood, you should put your garbage out between 5:00 and 11:00 on the day of the pick-up to avoid drunk students creating waste confetti in the streets. The streets with this special regime are listed on ivago.be/nl/particulier/diensten/scholen-verenigingen/studenten

When you rent an apartment on the private market in a building with more than 10 units, individual containers for household waste, glass, paper and cardboard, PMD (recyclable plastics and metals) and possibly GFT (vegetable, fruit, green and food waste) will be provided. Your landlord will explain to you how it works!

Organic waste (vegetable, fruit, green & food waste)

To make the streets even more colourful, you can also use designated green GFT containers. These are used for leftover vegetables, fruits and food, as well as waste from the garden and your dear dead houseplants that you forgot to water (no, that plastic flower doesn’t count). These containers are emptied biweekly as well.

The green garbage bags for non-recyclable waste are costly, so separating your greens into the GFT container will be about 50% cheaper. It is an excellent investment that helps the environment and your wallet, so don’t hesitate to order one! With the GFT container, you also get a free small basket and a roll of biodegradable plastic bags to collect the leftovers in your kitchen and keep the container clean.

You can order the above described green containers online at ivago.be/nl/particulier/diensten/containers#gentcont

Three golden tips
1) put a newspaper at the bottom of the container; 2) don’t leave your container standing for weeks; 3) clean your container from time to time.
PMD (plastic packaging, metal packaging & drink cartons)

It is required to separate plastic and metal packaging and drink cartons (TETRA) from the non-recyclable regular garbage. For this waste, you need to purchase the official (and cheap) blue IVAGO waste bags. You can do so at the supermarket (ask the cashier), the city shop and selected convenience stores. This waste fraction is picked up every two weeks.

Since 2020, also drinking cups, yoghurt cups, plastic trays and plastic foils and bags belong to this blue fraction.

Do's
- All plastic packaging, metal cans, spraying cans which contained food (e.g. whipped cream) or cosmetics (e.g. deodorant, hairspray), aluminium dishes and trays, metal lids and caps. Drinking cartons of all sizes and shapes.

Don'ts
- Bioplastics, plastic toys, foam, aluminium foil, packages which contained motor oil, poisonous or corrosive products.

Glass

Empty and mostly clean glass bottles, bowls and flasks are collected in a plastic bucket or solid plastic box with a closed bottom and lateral walls provided by you. IVAGO picks up the glass once a month. Don’t use cardboard boxes as a container or you could be fined. For some glass bottles, a mandatory deposit-refund system applies. You will pay a deposit of 10 cents for most beer bottles. An entire tray is worth € 4.50. So get yourself an extra drink by bringing back the bottles to your supermarket or (night)shop.

Do's
- Transparent glass bottles, jars and flasks.

Don'ts
- Lids, screwcaps, heat resistant glass, porcelain and pottery, stone bottles, windows, mirrors, lamps, medicine bottles, white glass.

Batteries

These don’t belong in any of the other bags or containers mentioned in this chapter. In Ghent you will find numerous collection points of Bebat, a company that recycles them. You will find a collection point in almost any supermarket. Student house ‘De Therminal’ and most student residencies also have one, easy peasy!
Non-recyclable garbage

All non-dangerous waste that does not belong in one of the before-mentioned categories is considered non-recyclable regular waste and belongs in the official green IVAGO bag. These bags can be bought in two sizes (30l or 60l) at the supermarket (ask the cashier), the city shop and selected convenience stores.

Tip: to encourage recycling, the city of Ghent has made the green bags for regular waste the most expensive ones. So, less regular waste and more recycling, equals saving money.

Waste Reduction

Repair cafés

Don’t immediately throw away your broken things! A lot of broken items can easily be fixed, but sometimes you don’t have the right tools, or you need some help and expertise. No problem is too big for the inventive citizens of Ghent. Usually twice a month, you are welcome at a repair café in your neighbourhood. Experienced people with magical hands and skills will help you to fix your problem in no time (bikes, computers, toasters, clothes...). You can get your stuff fixed for free and meet new people in your area!

A list of the dates of the next repair cafés:
www.ivago.be/nl/particulier/afval/wegbrengen?types=49

Upcycle

The urban dictionary describes it as ‘using ordinary objects to make something extraordinary’, and if you take a look at all the ideas on websites like Pinterest or Tumblr, you will know it is true. There is some pretty awesome stuff you can make. For inspiration, search ‘upcycle’ or ‘DIY’ on Google, and you will find countless ideas! With a little bit of glue, tape and creativity, you can make hundreds of items from recycled materials.

Better ways of printing

Even though printing is something we all need to do from time to time, there are a couple of ways to reduce the negative impact on the environment:

Font size
Less is more when it comes to font size! Of course, you still need to be able to read your copies, but a smaller font can reduce the amount of paper and ink a whole lot.

Ecofont
A particular font with teeny tiny invisible holes in it. You’ll hardly notice it, but your ink cartridge will! You can download Ecofont Vera Sans for free at www.ecofont.com

Leading
The blank space between sentences. It’s typically set at 1,5; try the 1,0, you won’t even notice the difference.

Margin
The empty space on the sides of your document. Try the 1,5 cm settings and use your pages to the fullest!

Blue Angel paper
Choose for this entirely recycled paper.

FSC labeled paper
Comes from sustainably managed forests.

Top Copy Green
A print & copy service company that only uses FSC or Blue Angel paper / re-uses and recycles / provides you with one side printed scrap paper. Just come pick up the amount of scrap paper you need, you don’t even have to print something!

www.topcopy.be - Sint-Pietersnieuwstraat 13B
Open: Monday-Thursday from 9:00-18:00 / Friday from 9:00-17:00 /
School holidays from 11:00-17:00

Zerocopy
This student initiative allows you to print for free! How is that even possible you might ask? The guys from Zerocopy convinced companies to invest a part of their advertisement budget that usually goes into the printing of posters into free printing for students. In return, they put a small bar with advertisements adapted to your profile on the bottom of the page, printed on eco-efficient paper. But watch out: only double-sided printing is available since it’s more sustainable.

How does it work? Go to zerocopy.be, create an account and upload your documents (only PDF-files allowed, but there are many ways to convert Word into PDF). You then head over to one of the printing points listed below, log on, and print. Be careful when printing tickets with a barcode: since the pages shrink a little to put the advertisement, some scanners won’t be able to scan the code.

Do’s
Not many things belong to the non-recyclable fraction anymore. General waste which can only be burned, such as dirty paper material after a visit to the ‘frituur’, aluminium foil, pizza boxes, bioplastics, tea bags, coffee capsules...

Don’ts
Injection needles, paint, medication, lamps and anything recyclable. Make sure to dispose of plastic packaging (taxis, cups, trays...) into the blue PMD-bag.

Tip: to encourage recycling, the city of Ghent has made the green bags for regular waste the most expensive ones. So, less regular waste and more recycling, equals saving money.
Ghent does not only have a lot of breathtaking buildings, but also some surprising green spots. Find your own favourite place to enjoy nature, a picnic, book, hike or run.

Visit Gent gives a nice overview of the best green sceneries Ghent has to offer: visit.gent.be/en/good-know/practical-information/getting-around/walking-nature-tips
The city centre of Ghent could still use some extra trees, but still there are a lot of parks to enjoy.

CITADELPARK
The Citadelpark is the largest park in the city centre. The name of the park refers to the citadel which stood there in the 19th century. The entrance gate near the museum of modern arts is the only part of the citadel that remains. The park also has a mid-20th-century open-air theatre, which is not easy to find, but a treat when you stumble onto it. The hills and rock formations within the park are part of the English landscape style that was popular at the time of its design. The park houses the museum of modern art (SMAK), the museum of fine arts (MSK), a conference centre (ICC) and an indoor cycling velodrome (Het Kuipke).

[visit.gent.be/en/see-do/citadelpark-ghent]

MUINKPARK
This small park is laid out in the English landscape style and is the last vestige of a zoo from the 19th century. It is the heart of a charming neighbourhood at a stone’s throw from Koning Albertpark/Zuidpark and cinema Kinepolis.

[visit.gent.be/en/see-do/muinkpark]

KONING ALBERTPARK/ZUIDPARK
Koning Albertpark / Zuidpark is a straight stretch of lawn and trees starting at the Woodrow Wilsonplein. It’s ideal for a ‘Start to Run’ session under the ancient plane trees surrounding this neo-baroque park. The eye-catcher of the park is the statue of King Albert I, seated on his horse as a soldier. The park has a skate area, a playground for kids and long, characteristic benches where you can spend many hours in the sun.

[visit.gent.be/en/see-do/koning-albertpark-zuidpark]

GROENEVALLEIPARK
Close to campus Coupure and our prison, you can relax in the Groenevalleipark. When the weather is nice, you can use the barbecue area, throw a frisbee, or play some basket- or football. The park consists of a classic part with big green lawns, but also comes with a wilder part consisting of a small forest. Everyone will find something here they like.

BAUDELOPARK
Not many Ghentians can mention Baudelopark without thinking about folk music. During Ghent Festival in July, Baudelopark is the place to be to enjoy folk music. The park is located in the city centre at Baudelolstraat/Koning Willem I-kaai and is getting a make-over the coming years.

[https://visit.gent.be/en/see-do/baudelopark]

Baudelostraat

From April until October, several parks feature (pink) picnic tables.

KUBB
The Swedes invented it; we love it. Kubbing is a lawn game where the objective is to knock over wooden blocks (kubbs) by throwing wooden batons at them. Kubb can be described as a combination of bowling and horseshoes. Idea for a warm evening, with some drinks and good company. Also its sibling Möllky is a hit. You can buy the wooden sets in many shops, including De Banier in the city centre [www.debanier.be/kubb.html].
GARDEN OF ST PETER’S ABBEY
Right in the heart of the student centre, you can go to the inner courtyard of the St Peter’s Abbey. Enjoy the lavender, vines and cherry trees overlooking the river.
visit.gent.be/en/see-do/garden-st-peters-abbey
Sint-Pietersplein 9
Open: Tuesday to Sunday from 10:00 till 18:00

LIEVEKAAL
It ain’t no park, but this quiet quay next to the channel ‘Lieve’ is an awesome place to relax, play with a frisbee, get over an ex-boyfriend or read a book. Extra points for the fact that both the characterful Patershol and Prinsenhof quarters are just next door!
Lievekaal, next to Youth hostel De Draecke

BIJLOKESITE
Around the STAM (the city museum of Ghent) there are large green lawns that are perfect for a picnic or a game of Kuibs.

CITY BEACH
BLAARMEERSEN
The Bloarseens is a sizeable recreational domain with a focus on sports. It has a large central pond with a beach, a swimming zone, a diving zone and a sports beach. The area also has a camping site, several sports fields, courts and gyms, running and hiking tracks and a skate park. For too much to mention. In summer, many people living close to Ghent gather here for some holiday fun. So, gather some friends and go for it.

Zuidlaan

VINDERHOUTSE BOSSEN
The new kid on the block and worth a bike ride to Drongen, a submunicipality of Ghent. It will take another 25 years to finish this ambitious project which will result in 640 hectares of enjoyable and biodiverse nature, but it’s now already attractive enough to keep hikers and even bikers happy for a while. A nice escape from the city!
KAJAK GENT

If you are in for a kayak trip through a green scenery, than Kajak Gent is a great option. They have their home base a bit outside of the city centre, in the green settings surrounding the river ‘Leie’. It is feasible to kayak from here to the city centre and back in three hours, which gives you the best of both worlds.

MORE SHADES OF GREEN

NATURE PARK OVERMEERS

In walking distance from Gent Sint-Pieters, across from HOGENT Campus Schoonmeersen, is nature park Overmeers. It is about 7 hectares in size and has a large pond with many water birds and amphibians. You can enter the park at Sint-Denijslaan (next to the bus stop Wiemersdreef) and the V. Voerwyckweg (via the bicycle path).

VISSERIJPARK & KEIZERSPARK

Visserijpark is the small green connection between the two branches of the Visserijvaart before they flow into the river Schelde. The path across the park is a nice example of the re-use of materials, made out of discarded curbs from sidewalks.

When you cross the pedestrian/bicycle bridge from the Visserij over the river Schelde towards Ledeberg, you end up at the larger Keizerspark. The park has a playground and is a pleasant hangout on a sunny day. You can have a lay down on the grass riverbank with a nice view of the Schelde.

visit.gent.be/en/see-do/keizerpark

COYENDANSPARK, KONINGIN ASTRIOPARK & LOUSBERGPARK

At Ferdinand Lousbergkaai you can find Lousbergpark, Koningin Astridpark & Coyendanspark. Lousbergpark is a recently landscaped neighbourhood park with a playground, hidden between Visserijvaart and Karperstraat.
Fietsknooppunten (Bicycle nodes)

We Belgians copied a great concept from our Dutch neighbours, who are number one in cycling. All over Belgium, there is a network of ‘bicycle nodes’. The concept is easy: before you start, you just write down the numbers of nodes you have to pass by. You start at the first node and you follow the marks to the next node. This allows you to outline your own trip without the need of a map or GPS!

Start planning your own bike trip through www.vlaanderen-fietsland.be/routeplanner and/or the free app ‘Vlaanderen Fietsland’.

Green Stops

Getting tired of Ghent? Flanders and Belgium have a large variety of sceneries to discover. The West-Flemish war polders (reclaimed land), the Antwerp heide (heather), the blossoms of Limburg and of course the Flemish Ardennes are awaiting you. A bit far to start from Ghent, but Blue Bikes and rental bikes await you in a lot of railway stations. For 4 euro (one way), you can also take your bike on the train. It’s even possible that you can take your bike for free in the near future!

For hikers and bikers, we have another simple but great concept, the Green Stops. You take a train to one station, hike a marked trail to another one, where you can take the train back. Simple as that. Check it out at www.belgiantrain.be/en/leisure/b-excursions/more/green-stops
Sustainable Catering List

Our Sustainable Catering list provides an overview of caterers in Ghent who meet the minimum requirements to be considered ‘sustainable’. We also evaluated ten other relevant sustainable aspects of the participating caterers. These aspects may help you to make a choice, but they also show the effort made by the caterer beyond the menus they offer.

The Sustainable Catering List is published both in English and in Dutch. The guide for caterers, defining all aspects and ratings, is available in Dutch.

Disclaimer: the Sustainable Catering list helps you to choose sustainably, it does not rate the quality of the food or the services provided.
